

First Call!

Welcome to Food for Health 2018

The Food for Health International Society (FOHIS), the Kagoshima University of Japan, the Hunan Agricultural University of China, the Chosun University of South Korea, the North Dakota State University of USA, the Mexican Association for Food Protection (AMEPAL) and the Universidad Autónoma de Nuevo León organize Food for Health 2018 October 10-12 in the beautiful city of mountains Monterrey México,

This multi-institutional international effort bridges the existing gap among food production, processing, food function and health, and provides the cutting edge sciences and technologies in these fields. This meeting will establish a primary platform for communicating the latest developments, updated information, and emerging ideas across countries to improve “Food for Health”.

The scientific program includes: Keynote Lectures, Plenary lectures, Oral Sessions and Poster Sessions.

Scope of the congress:

- Functional Foods and Human Health
- Animal and Aquatic Nutrition and Health
- Functional Foods and Chemoprevention
- Food Safety & Microbiology
- Global Food Security
- Fermentation Biology for Functional Foods
- Functional Phytochemical Foods
- Post-Harvest and Processing
- Technology of Functional Foods
- And more.

Save the Date!

Deadline for Abstract Submissions: Wednesday August 15, 2018.

Notification of Acceptance: August 31, 2018

Early Registration September 17, 2018.

More Info: Email to Santos Garcia: santos@microbiosymas.com or Norma Heredia: norma@microbiosymas.com, normalheredia@gmail.com

Check the Food for Health 2018 Web site at <http://www.microbiosymas.com> for updated information

Join us in Monterrey!!!